VOL 26. BLOOMSBURG PA., FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1891. NO. 21

C. P. Sloan has in his carriage ware rooms, a duplex buckboard that is a novelty. It is of natural oak, and has two seats. One of these can be shoved under the other, making a one seat vehicle, or reversed so that the occupants sit back to back, or used as an ordinary two seated vehicle. It is a very pretty wagon, and the price is reasonable. Go and see it.

Mrs. Calendar Potter died at the residence of her son-in-law, E. M. Page at Wilkes-Barre, last Sunday. Her death was the result of an attack of La grippe, followed by pneumonia. Her body was brought to Bloomsburg Wednesday evening, and interred alongside that of her husband in Rosemont cemetery. Services conducted by Rev. I. M. Patterson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which she was a faithful member.

It is announced that the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad has, after a three winters' practical use of the Gold system of steam heating for passenger cars, decided to equip the whole of the remainder of its passenger rolling stock, (upwards of 300 cars) whether running in New York State or in States where the law does not compel them to use other means of heating than stoves.

Hudson Owen who has been Superintendent of Canal Navigation for the last forty years, and well known in this section of the state as a prominent citizen, has gone into the coal business. His yard is along the Canal above the Berwick bridge, and has recently put an extension to his bins of 70 feet, and is now prepared to supply our community with the best article of coal the market affords.—Berwick Independent.

Miss Christeanna Stecker of Buckhorn who has for the last eight years been invalid, and much of the time a great sufferer, departed this life on the 17th inst, at the age of 57 yrs and 16 days. She spent most of the previous week visiting some of her relatives, returned on Friday evening, and appeared at once quite fatigued, and soon became very sick, continuing to grow worse until she passed away. The funeral services were held on Monday at 2 P. M., and the attendance was large. She was a devout Christian and died in the triumphs of the Christian Faith.

Boys who have an inclination in the direction of spending their spare moments in acts of rowdyism upon the streets, or in the low drinking resorts, have a lesson worthy of their most earnest study in the fate of young Charles Cleary, of Renovo, who has been twice convicted of the murder of Policeman Paul. Although he is at this time but twenty-one years of age he stands within the shadow of the gallows. Not only is his own life wrecked, but that of his parents and friends is made miserable by his unfortunate disregard of advice to shun the paths that lead to the bad. It is too late now for him to profit by the awful experience of his young life but the lesson of it should be heeded by the boys who have the benefit of his terrible experience. Rowdyism and drunkenness has dyed his hands in the blood of his fellow man, has brought him behind the prison bars and will end his young life upon the scaffold. Is not the picture a terrible one to contemplate?

Black bass are so destructive of other fish that Long Pond is to be drained to get rid of the bass. An exchange says a number of Berwick sportsmen purpose restocking Ganoga Lake (Long Pond) during the coming summer. A number of bass were put in the lake a few years ago and they are fast destroying all the more valuable fish. It is said that a cut costing $500 to $600 will drain it to its bed, and as the supply is from springs it will not be a difficult matter to remove all of the fish. When the water is at its lowest the cut will be made and the water drawn off. The lake will then be stocked with lake trout and other gamy finnies. This is certainly a brilliant conception and its consummation will restore to Ganoga Lake its old-time prestige as a valuable fishing ground. Ganoga Lake, then known as Long Pond, was stocked with pike about thirty years ago by Col. James Tubbs. The pike were caught in the Susquehanna and taken to the lake in tubs. The lake is situated in Colley township, at the extreme eastern end of Sullivan County, and is a summer resort of well established reputation. The Loyalsock Extension of the L. V. R. R. now passes within a couple of miles of the lake and it is far more accessable than ever before.—Ex.

The Union Veteran Legion of this town will attend services at St. Paul's Church on next Sunday, 24th inst., at 10.30 A. M.

ALMOST A CONFLAGRATION.

Fire broke out Monday evening about half past nine in the store room of C W. Brown in the large three story frame building of Moyer Bros, on Main, south of Market street. A timely discovery of the flames, prevented what would certainly have been a very distructive fire, as in that vicinity, there are a group of frame buildings. Immediately upon the sound of the fire alarm bell the fire companies rushed to the scene. The Winona Fire Company reached there first and coupled to the plug at corner of I. W. McKelvy's store. They succeeded in extinguishing the fire at once, even before the other companies arrived. The steam fire engine was pulled to the place by a number of men and steam formed ready for work in about twenty minutes. The engineer, C. C. Kesty, was over the river when the alarm of fire was given so that another took charge of the engine, and hence steam was not raised as rapidly as it would have been had the engineer been present.

The fire was gaining rapid headway and in a few minutes would have proved disastrous. The joists of the first floor were considerably burned, and the flames would soon have burst through. Much damage was done to the contents of the store room by the water in extinguishing the flames. When the Friendship Fire Company came running down Main street with the hose cart, Mr. John Ehrhart, bartender at St. Elmo Hotel, rushed out to help draw the cart. The others drawing the cart were running too fast for him and he was thrown to the ground, the cart running over him and giving him some bruises, but no bones were broken. Bloomsburg is certainly fortunate with the fires.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

Mr. E. A. Rawlings had an experience Monday morning that he does not care to repeat. He was coming down from Orangeville with the delivery wagon, and driving his young sorrel horse. When near the narrows the bit broke and the bridle was drawn back to the hames. The horse started on a run, and passed the narrows at a Maud S. gait. Three teams were passed during his rapid trip, but who or what they were, or how he passed them he does not know. He remained in the seat and spoke gently to the horse. When near Hoffman's mill the horse slackened his pace a little and when spoken to at the house nearly stopped. After passing Hoffman's house Mr. Rawling spoke several times to him when he finally came to a stand still, Ed hastily alighted, stepped to his head and held him until a new bit was secured.

A GOOD INCUBATOR.

L. E. Whary has made several incubators that have worked very satisfactorily. The heat is supplied by hot water and it is necessary only to change the water once in twenty four hours. Mrs. Whary has raised over a hundred chickens this season with one of these incubators, some of them being large enough for broilers now. Miss Mary Betts, who resides at Judge Elwell's has one and has brought 105 chicks out of 150 eggs, at three settings. None of the chicks have died, and all are free from gapes and vermin. One setting was accidentally chilled thereby killing a number of chicks in the shell, or the result would have been much better than many of the high priced incubators.

WAR FEELING AT HOME.

THE WAR FEVER IN BALDINSVILLE.

S SOON as I'd recooperated my physikil system, I went over into the village. The peasantry was glad to see me. The skoolmaster sed it was cheerin to see that gigantic intelleck among 'em onct more. That's what he called me. I like the skoolmaster, and allers send him tobacker when I'm off on a travelin campane. Besides, he is a very sensible man. Such men must be encouraged.

They don't git news very fast is Baldinsville, as nothin but a plank road runs in there twice a week, and that's very much out of repair. So my nabers wasn't much posted up in regard to the wars. 'Squire Baxter sed he'd voted the dimicratic ticket for goin on forty year, and the war was a dam black republican lie. Jo. Stackpole, who kills hogs for the 'Squire, and has got a powerful muscle into his arms, sed he'd bet $5 he could lick the Crisis in a fair stand up fight, if he wouldn't draw a knife on him. So it went—sum was for war and sum was for peace.

The newspapers got along at last, chock full of war, and the patriotic fever fairly bust out in Baldinsville. 'Squire Baxter sed he didn't b'lieve in Coercion, not one of 'em, and could prove by a file of Eagles of Liberty in his garrit, that it was all a Whig lie, got up to raise the price of whisky and destroy our other liberties. But the old 'Squire got putty riley when he heard how the rebels was cuttin up, and he sed he reckoned he should skour up his old muskit and do a little square fitin for the Old Flag, which had allers bin on the ticket he'd voted, and he was too old to Bolt now.

The next mornin I 'rose with the lark N. B.—I don't sleep with the lark, tho. \ goak.)

My little dawter was execootin ballids, accompanyin herself with the Akordeon, and she wisht me to linger and hear her sing, "Hark, I hear a angel singin, a angel now is onto the wing."

"Let him fly, my child!" sed I, a-bucklin on my armer, "I must forth to my Biz."

I had a seris time gittin into my military harness, as it was bilt for me many years ago; but I finally got inside of it, tho' it fitted me putty clost. Howsever, onct into it, I lookt fine—in fact, aw-inspirin. "Do you know me, Mrs. Ward?" sed I, walkin into the kitchin.

"Know you, you old fool? Of course I do."

I saw at once she did.

We air progressin pretty well with our drill. As all air commandin offissers, there ain't no jelusy, and as we air all exceedin smart it t'aint worth while to try to outstrip each other. The idee of a company composed excloosively of Commanders-in-Chiefs, orriggernated, I spose I skurcely need say, in these Brane. Considered as a idee, I flatter myself it is putty hefty. We've got all the tacktricks at our tongs' ends, but what we particly excel in is restin muskits.

Our corpse will do its dooty. We go to the aid of Columby—we fight for the stars!

We'll be chopt into sassige meat before we'll exhibit our cote tales to the foe.

We'll fight till there's nothin left of us but our little toes, and even they shall defiantly wiggle! "Ever of thee,"

A. WARD.

A WAR MEETING.

Our complaint just now is war meetin's. They've bin havin 'em bad in varis parts of our cheerful Republic, and nat'rally we caught 'em here in Baldinsville. They broke out all over us.

Posey County is aroused. I may say, indeed, that the pra-hay-ories of Injianny is on fire.

Our big meetin came off the other night, and our old friend of the Bugle was elected Cheerman.

The Bugle-Horn of Liberty is one of Baldvinsville's most eminentest institootions. The advertisements are well written, and the deaths and marriages are conducted with signal ability. The editor, Mr. Slinkers, is a polished, akarcastic writer. Folks in these parts will not soon forget how he used up the Eagle of Freedom, a family journal published at Snootville, near here. The controversy was about a plank road. "The road may be, as our contemporary says, a humbug; but our aunt isn't baldheaded, and we haven't got a one-eyed sister Sal! Wonder if the Editor of the Eagle of Freedom sees it?" This used up the Eagle of Freedom feller, because his aunt's head does present a skinned appearance, and his sister SARAH is very much one-eyed, For a steel home-thrust, Mr. SLINKERS has no ekals.

I was fixin' myself up to attend the great war meetin', when my daughter entered with a young man who was evidently from the city, and who wore long hair, and had a wild expression into his eye. In one hand he carried a portfolio, and in his other paw claspt a bunch of small brushes. My daughter introduced him as Mr. SWINNUM, the distinguished landscape painter from Philadelphy.

"He is a artist, papa. Here is one of his master-pieces—a young mother gazin' admirin'ly upon her first born," and my daughter showed me a really pretty picter done in ile. "Is it not beautiful, papa? He throws so much soul into his work."

"Does he? does he?" said I—"well, I reckon I'd better hire him to whitewash our fence. It needs it. What will you charge, sir," I continued, "to throw some soul into my fence?"

My daughter went out of the room in very short meeter, takin' the artist with her, and from the emphatical manner in which the door slam'd I concluded she was summat disgusted at my remarks. She closed the door, I may say, in italics. I went into the closet and larfed all alone by myself for over half an hour. I larfed so vi'lently that the preserve jars rattled like a cavalry offisser's sword and things, which it aroused my BETSY, who came and opened the door pretty suddent. She seized me by the few lonely hairs that still linger sadly upon my bare-footed hed, and dragged me out of the closet, incidentally obsarving that she didn't exactly see why she should be compelled, at her advanced stage of life, to open a asylum for sooperanoöated idiots.

My wife is one of the best wimin on this continent, altho' she isn't always gentle as a lamb, with mint sauce. No, not always.

But to return to the war meetin'. It was largely attended. The Editor of the Bugle arose and got up and said the fact could no longer be disguised that we were involved in a war. "Human gore," said he, "is flowin'. All able-bodied men should seize a musket and march to the tented field. I repeat it, sir, to the tented field."

A voice—"Why don't you go yourself, you old blow hard?"

"I am identified, young man, with a Arkymedian leaver which moves the world," said the Editor, wiping his auburn brow with his left coat-tail: "I allude, young man, to the press. Terms, two dollars a year, invariably in advance. Job printing executed with neatness and dispatch!" And with this brilliant bust of elekance the Editor introduced Mr. J. Brutus Hinkins, who is sufferin from an attack of College in a naberin' place. Mr. Hinkins said Washington was not safe. Who can save our national capeetle?

"DAN SETCHELL," I said. "He can do it afternoons. Let him plant his light and airy form onto the Long Bridge, make faces at the hirelin foe, and they'll all skedaddle! Old SETCH can do it."

"I call the Napoleon of Showmen," said the Editor of the Bugle,—"I call that Napoleonic man, whose life is adorned with so many noble virtues, and whose giant mind lights up this warlike scene—I call him to order."

I will remark, in this connection, that the Editor of the Bugle does my job printing.

"You," said Mr. Hinkins, "who live away from the busy haunts of men do not comprehend the magnitood of the crisis. The busy haunts of men is where people comprehend this crisis. We who live in the busy haunts of man, that is to say, we dwell, as it were, in the busy haunts of men."

"I really trust that the gent'l'man will not fail to say suthin' about the busy haunts of men before he sits down," said I.

"I claim the right to express my sentiments here," said Mr. Hinkins, in a slightly indignant tone, "and I shall brook no interruption, if I am a Softmore."

"You couldn't be more soft, my young friend," I observed, whereupon there was cries of "Order! order!"

"I regret I can't mingle in this strife personally," said the young man.

"You might inlist as a liberty pole," said I in a silvery whisper.

"But," he added, "I have a voice, and that voice is for war." The young man then closed his speech with some strikin and original remarks in relation to the star-spangled banner. He was followed by the village minister, a very worthy man indeed, but whose sermons have a tendency to make people sleep pretty industriously.

"I am willin' to inlist for one," he said.

"What's your weight, parson?" I asked.

"A hundred and sixty pounds," he said.

"Well, you can inlist as a hundred and sixty pounds of morphine, your dooty bein' to stand in the hospitals arter a battle, and preach while the surgical operations is bein' performed! Think how much you'd save the Gov'ment in morphine."

He didn't seem to see it; but he made a good speech, and the editor of the Bugle rose to read the resolutions, as follers:

Resolved, That we view with anxiety the fact that there is now a war goin' on, and

Resolved, That we believe Stonewall Jackson sympathizes with the secession movement, and that we hope the nine-months men——

At this point he was interrupted by the sounds of silvery footsteps on the stairs, and a party of wimin, carryin' guns and led by BETSY JANE, who brandish'd a loud and rattlin' umbreller, burst into the room.

"Here," cried I, "are some nine-months wimin!"

"Mrs. Ward," said the editor of the Bugle—"Mrs. WARD and ladies, what means this extr'ord'n'ry demonstration?"

"It means," said that remarkable female, "that you men air makin fools of yourselves. You are willin' to talk and urge others to go to the wars, but you don't go to the wars yourselves. War meetin's is very nice in their way, but they don't keep STONEWALL JACKSON from comin' over to Maryland and helpin' himself to the fattest beef critters. What we want is more cider and less talk."

"Gent'l'men," said I, "that's my wife! Go in, old gal!" and I throw'd up my ancient white hat in perfeck rapters.

"Is this roll book to be filled up with the names of men or wimin?" she cried.

"With men—with men!" and our quoty was made up that very night.

THE ROAD BILL VETOED.

GOVERNOR PATTISON SAYS THE OBJECTIONS ARE MINIFOLD.

Governor Pattison has sent to the Senate his veto of what is commonly known as the Road Bill. He said:

"The objections to this measure seem to me to be manifold. Its purposes are so numerous and diverse as to expose it to the Constitutional objection of containing more than one subject. What ever popular demand exists for the enactment of legislation on the subject of roads and road making will certainly not be satisfied with the provisions of this bill. If they are to become effective at all, they could be made so only by liberal appropriation of State moneys, for which neither this bill nor any other legislation, as yet enacted, has made provision. Even if such grant were made it is very doubtful whether the plan of distribution proposed by this bill would be equitable, satisfactory or Constitutional. The basis of distribution which it proposes is the amount of road taxes collected and expended by each township for road purposes during the preceding year. This would put it entirely within the power of rich and populous rural districts, such, for example, as adjoin large cities and boroughs, to receive a large share of the State's bounty, which would be applied where, perhaps, it was least needed for the purposes of general road improvement, while remote, sparsely settled and comparatively poor districts, where road improvements were most desired, would receive little or comparatively nothing.

"Moreover, the policy and propriety of the grant of State moneys raised by general taxation to particular districts or communities are extremely doubtful, if not absolutely forbidden by the spirit of the constitutional provisions declaring that there shall be no appropriation for benevolent purposes to any community, and that the Commonwealth shall not assume the debt of any city, county, borough, or township. The present enactment proposes to distribute to some of the districts of the State, for a purely local purpose—that of road making—moneys which have been raised by taxation upon all the citizens of the State. The roads of the townships only are to be constructed and repaired by the aid of the State moneys, while those of municipalities are to be provided for by local taxation. This is a description wholly unwarranted by the Constitution.

"Furthermore, I cannot ignore the fact that this bill passed the House of Representatives by a bare constitutional majority. That majority, it is notorious, was only secured with great difficulty, and I violate no confidence in saying that since its passage in the one branch of the General Assembly a number of members, whose votes were required to make that majority, have communicated to me their opposition to and protest against the bill in its present form. Of the 103 members who comprised this majority, barely one-fifth represent districts affected by the bill. It was imposed upon the communities affected by it against the votes and protest of a large proportion of their representatives.

'Finally, if there were no other objections to this bill, a sufficient one would be afforded by the fact that there are at present special and local road laws to the number of 700, governing as many townships of the State. If the present bill is to have any efficiency it must result from its operation as a general road law, binding at least on all the townships of the State. The section which proposes to repeal all special and local laws inconsistent with it is not sufficient for that purpose according to the decisions of our Supreme Court. If they remain, as they certainly will under the bill in its present form, it will uterlly fail as a measure to secure uniformity of road law. Other reasons forcibly suggest themselves for a disapproval of this measure, but I deem those which I have set forth as ample to justify a veto of the bill."

Care of The Hair.

The hair, like every other portion of the human frame, if uncared for will go to waste and eventually drop out. This is due to a splitting of the ends of the hair, so that the interior oil duct which nourishes the hair is exposed, and the natural nourishment of the hair runs to waste, overflows upon the head, forming dandruff, which impedethe growth of the hair just as much as tares among wheat. The best means to prevent this is a strengthening of the hair, and this can easily be accomplished by frequent cutting and the use of salt water and vaseline.

Have you ever noticed what bushy hair seafaring men have? It is because their hair is in constant contact with the invigorating salt air, and is often wet with salt walter. A good tonic of salt water should contain a teaspoonful of salt to a tumbler of water, and should be applied to the hair two or three times a week. The effect at the end of a month will be surprising.—American Spectator.

Almost Killed.

I was almost killed by the doctors, who treated me for bleeding piles. It cost me over $100 without relief. I took Sulphur Bitters for two months, and now I am well.—Gus Hall, Troy, N. Y. 5-15:2-t.

Where is the State Money?

The criminal looseness of the whole system of State taxation upon business, as administered in Philadelphia, is forcibly illustrated in the fact to which The Times has called attention, that of all the merchantile taxes collected in the city for 1890, including retailers licenses, and brokers', auctioneers', peddlers', billiard and theatre licenses, not one dollar appears to have been paid into the State Treasury up to the close of the fiscal year.

It has become the practice of the City Treasurer to keep this money, most of which is collected yearly, until the very end of the year, and it would appear from his testimony before a committee of the Councils that the present City Treasurer made no very clear distinction in his banking business between this money and his own. At the close of the last year, which coincided with the troubles of the Keystone Bank, he could not or did uot pay what was due the State, and in the report of the Auditor General the receipts from these taxes in Philadelphia are unaccounted for. The only payment was a small balance of about $18,000, when there ought to have been $180,000.

These facts make a loud call upon the Auditor General to take a hand in the present inquiry and find out, if he can, what has become of the State's money. It would also become that officir to overhaul this whole business and devise some plan by which the State taxes collected in the counties shall be paid over to the State Treasury at once, instead of remaining indefinitely in the possession of speculative officials.—Times.

In the Spring

The feeling of lassitude peculiar to the season begins to be felt. The average stock of vitality has been pretty thoroughly exhausted in carrying its possessor through the rigors and changes of the trying winter, and as the more genial season approaches and the strain upon the system relaxes a feeling of prostration, more or less pronounced in degree and duration, is the natural and inevitable result. During the existence of this feeling of lassitude and depression, business cares and exertions seem almost impossible of endurance, and even the lightest duties and responsibilities of life are regarded as a burden to be shirked or disregarded to the greatest possible extent.

If You are Wise

To devise some preparation to counteract this tired feeling and restore the system to something like a normal condition has been the endeavor of many people more or less skilled in medical science, and countless concoctions under the general title of "spring medicine" have been placed upon the market, had a brief boon and then been lost sight of, to be succeeded by some other similar preparation. The principal ingredient in most of the spring "bitters," "tonics," etc., alcohol, the effect of which upon the human system has been sufficiently dwelt upon through various public mediums to render any extended reference to the same unnecessary here. The temporary feeling of strength and exhilaration produced by this active agent is as certainly followed by a greater degree of depression, while the results of continued indulgence are a permanent impairment of the vital organs—the heart, kidneys, liver and brain.

The facts of the case are that you have been living upon meat and other fatty substances to a greater extent than at any other time of the year; the pores of the skin have been closed, and upon the kidneys and liver have devolved all the work of keeping the system clear. But now summer is at hand, and these organs cannot keep up the drain. The pores of the skin must be open, else disease will step in and throw you upon a bed of sickness. If the pores be but partly open, then you are languid, lazy and ill at ease. You want a spring cleaning process within yourself, and then you will be filled with vigor and a zest for work and business. You can have all accomplished by the use of

A Case of Grip.

And we have a "Death 'Grip'" on Binder Twine, this year.

There has never been a season when Fraudulent Adulteration of twine was so prevalent, and the consumer must use great caution in buying his twine.

Do not depend upon the tags for the material of the twine, but upon the honor and responsibility of the parties who have twine to sell.

There is twine upon the market, tagged as Manilla that has no manilla in its composition, and some tagged as "Half & Half, Standard Manilla," that are Sisal and New Zealand only; there are also twines of variously mixed Hemps, the tags of which in part or wholly misrepresent them.

All twine is much lower this season, and the consumer can secure a good twine for very little money, and there is no reason why the farmer should be humbugged.

We handle the twine made by Wm. Deering & Co., makers of the

THE LEGISLATURE.

Special Correspondence of THE COLUMBIAN

HARRISBURG, May 19, 1891.

Well, as was predicted by your correspondent, the final adjournment will take place on Thursday, May 28, at high noon. The Senate Republican caucus agreed to the House resolution at an early hour on Monday evening, and when the Senate met its action was confirmed by a strict party vote, the Democrats voting against it because of the important legislation which will be left unpassed, of course, everything is on the rush now. It is the old, old story. Too much time is frittered away in the beginning of the session, too many adjournments, and when the flowers of May come then there is a hurried passage of measures which have never been properly matured or digested, and by this means many laws are engrafted upon the statute books which have been illy conceived, and in which in many cases can never undergo the ordeal of the Supreme Court. But of all the Legislatures which have met since the adoption of the Constitution of 1873, the present caps the climax for the most gabbing and least work. There is little hope for the people of Pennsylvania as long as such a state of affairs continues to exist, and the remedy will never come until the rule of the Republican bossism is forever squelched in this good old commonwealth.

AN ACRIMONIOUS DEBATE.

The usual serenity of the Senate chamber was considerably disturbed on Monday night. It came about in this way. Senator Green, Democrat, of Berks, offered a resolution that the final adjournment be postponed until the important questions of Ballot Reform, Tax Revision, a Constitutional Convention and Apportionment be considered and disposed of. This excited the ire of the Republican Senators, and thereupon Senator Thompson, Republican, of Dauphin, made a little speech in defence of his Republican colleagues' actions. Then Senator-Congressman-and-expects-to-be Chairman-of-the-Republican-National-League-Clubs Jack Robinson, of Delaware, took the floor. He flung his arms about, scowled, and endeavored to be dramatic. He professed friendship for all important legislation, and said he would not vote for the resolution for adjournment if he thought it meant the death of important measures. He said the question of ballot reform and tax revision could be passed within four days. He quoted the remarks of Dr. Johnston that "patriotism was the last refuge of scoundrels," and intimated that the Democrats were using ballot or other reforms "as the last refuge of political scoundrels." This brought Senator Green to his feet, who plainly gave Robinson to understand that if the allusion was intended for him he was prepared to meet that doughty political warrior either in or out of the Senate chamber in any manner which he might choose. Senator Lloyd, of Cumberland, a quiet, dignified gentleman, and a soldier of the civil war with a splendid record, gave Robinson to understand that such a remark was beneath the dignity of a Senator or gentleman, and he scored him unmercifully. Then Robinson, craven as he is, humbly apologizes, but Lloyd reminded him that he must be more careful in the language he addresses his peers hereafter. It looked like "pistol and coffee for two" for a little while, but calmer counsels prevailed, Senator Green's resolution was defeated, and harmony was restored.

USELESS DISCUSSIONS.

Notwithstanding the few remaining days of the session, the House consumed over an hour on Monday night in two useless discussions. The first was a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate bill to provide for a publication of the digest of the laws of the state was indefinitely postponed. This gave rise to a debate participated in by Findlay of Washington, Johnson of Cameron, Wherry of Cumberland, Skinner of Fulton, Gillan of Franklin, and Quigley of Philadelphia, and the reconsideration was finally adopted.

The second was on a bill upon which no members seemed to know anything about. After talking upon it for half an hour, Mr. Wherry, of Cumberland, asked who was its sponsor or whether any member upon the floor could tell anything of its merits, and Mr. Hayes, Republican, of Venango, said that no one reading the bill could tell what it meant. Then, upon motion of Mr. Kemble, Democrat, of Wayne, the further consideration of the measure was postponed for the present, and in a few minutes after the House adjourned. What a farce!

AN INTERESTING ARGUMENT.

An argument was heard yesterday before Governor Pattison and Attorney General Hensel on the merits of a bill, which has passed both houses and is now in the Governor's hands, in reference to granting boroughs the right to manufacture electricity for commercial purposes. It originated with the Council of Chambersburg, and several members of that body and several other citizens of that borough opposed to the bill were present to entertain the Governor with their respective views. The Councilmen were represented by their Solicitor, Mr. Ludwig, who is an able lawyer, and the other side by Mr. Bowers, an equally promising attorney of the Franklin county bar. Mr. Ludwig gave his side of the question in an exceedingly able and ingenious argument, and was responded to in argument of considerable force by Mr. Bowers. The Governor listened attentively and respectfully to the arguments, but gave no intimation as to what he would do.

HIS NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

The Senate got into an amiable mood last night, and confirmed Governor Pattison's Philadelphia nominations of Port and Lazaretto Physicians, and also that of George B. Lesper as Insurance Commissioner. There was no bargain in the arrangement because the Governor gave no pledges whatever in the matter. Will Egle and Waller have to go?

THE BOYER BILL.

The Senate passed on second reading last night the Boyer Bill. This is a severe blow to the Taggart or Grangers' tax bill. Four Democrats voted with the Republicans. Now what will the outcome be? It is not by any means certain even should it pass the Senate on third reading, and then be concurred in by the House, that the Governor will sign it. But a few days will tell.

COLUMBIA.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 18, 1891.

Mr. Harrison found a nasty mess waiting for him in that nest of crookedness, the Pension bureau, when he returned from his royal excursion. Much against his own inclination he had kept Commissioner Raum in office in the face of the crookedness in his business methods, so effectually shown up by Representative Cooper, of Indiana, and he had a right to expect that no further crookedness would be indulged in. There-fore he must have been terribly shocked when informed that Green B. Raum Jr., assistant chief clerk, of the Pension bureau, and son of Commissioner Raum, was the head of an office-brokerage concern which had been selling not only original appointments below the classified service, but promotions under the Civil Service examinations. A more disgraceful situation has not confronted a President since Gen. Grant kicked Belknap out of the War Department on account of his wife's engaging in selling India post traderships

And the most remarkable part of the whole business is the leniency with which Raum junior has been treated. Three other government employees implicated in the swindle were at once dismissed, but this precious jewel of a republican administration, was allowed to resign and that wasn't all, the resignation was accepted to take effect thirty days from date and he was given leave of absence until that time, which was a neat way of presenting him with a month's salary. It is stated here that Secretary Noble is responsible for the leniency extended to this criminal, although he was out of town when the resignation was accepted. What puzzles honest people is why all of the parties concerned in this steal have not been arrested and brought before a criminal court to answer for their misdeeds.

Mr. Harrison, when he thinks about this young man's peculiar transactions, as well as those of his father, probably wishes he had never seen the Raum's and that he had not been so precipitate in kicking "Corporal" Tanner out—no one ever accused Tanner of being dishonest. The Raums have certainly tried to make hay while the official sun shines. The old gentleman as soon as he became Commissioner began to look out for the rest of the family. Green B. Jr., was made assistant chief clerk, two daughters were given clerkships, and John another son, who does business as a pension attorney, was given a chance to copy the names of all pension applicants who had not employed attorneys, which chance has probably been worth big money to him, as he proceeded to get out a circular setting forth his facilities for putting claims through in a hurry and mentioning incidentily his relationship to the Commissioner. The Raums will be a heavy load for Mr. Harrison to carry next year, and it will not be strange if he should toss them all overboard.

A determined attempt was made to get up an organized reception to welcome Mr. Harrison back to Washington from his long-free, trip, but it was a dismal failure. Nobody would have anything to do with it except a half dozen of his personal friends; not even the members of the republican state associations, all of which are office holders would take hold of it, so it had to be abandoned, and then the statement was unblushingly made that Mr. Harrison did not wish to be met by a crowd. I do not wish to imply by the above that Mr. Harrison is disliked here, because he isn't. The people are simply indifferent towards him, and I believe that feeling is more marked among members of his own party than with democrats.

The impression among those familiar with the inside workings of the administration is that Mr. Blaine is engaged in "playing possum" on Mr. Harrison just at this time for reasons of his own. Mr. Blaine may have been ill, but these people refuse to believe it, and they stated when Mr. Blaine left here that he would not return until after Mr. Harrison got back and that he had gone away in a "huff". Circumstances seem to favor this view of the case.

Republicans who have talked with Mr. Harrison since his return say that he has about as well developed a case of the "big head" as they ever saw.

Representative Crain, of Texas, is here seeing that the boom of Representative Mills for the Speakership of the House does not get neglected.

Ex-Representative Yoder, of Ohio, says of politics in that State: "It looks to me as if the democrats would unite and re-nominate Gov. Campbell. One thing I am confident of, we will elect the man we nominate. No man can be elected in Ohio on the high tariff issue. McKinley makes that the issue, and he will be defeated. The farmers are tired of high taxes, and cannot understand why other necessaries of life cannot be cheapened by being put on the free list as sugar has been.

The Philadelphia Press thus sharply criticizes an official of the present administration:

Commissioner Raum's administration of the Pension Office has been attended by a series of scandals culminating in the resignation of his son, under grave charges, which reflect on the management of the office. The resignation of Commissioner Raum himself ought long since to have been asked by the President, and every month makes such a step more necessary. No adequate answer has ever been made to the charges brought months ago against Commissioner Raum, and his retention in office is certain to lead to increasing scandal until his removal or resignation ends them.

Senator P. Gray Meek says that the Republicans have several Senators who would be willing and even pleased to accept the responsibility and incidental honor of acting as leader, but they can't decide upon one of them. Penrose feels that he has some claims upon the position. Smith thinks he has earned it by his long service in the Legislature, and Grady, Thompson, Robinson and Gobin can put forward good reasons why their claims should be considered. As it is now, when Senator Robinson makes a speech on a bill and assumes that he is voicing his party, Senator Gobin has also to be eloquent in order to show that he is still in the front rank. Then the other aspirants for leadership follow, and much time and eloquence is wasted. If they had a recognized leader there would be less waste of time and there would be some prospect of adjournment.

President Harrison and party returned to Washington on Saturday, after having made the longest tour ever made by any President. It covered the south, and West to the Pacific.

In the new Congressional apportionment bill found on another page, the committee struck out Lycoming in the eighteenth district, leaving it as it was before—Columbia, Montour, Northumberland and Sullivan.

WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J.

A Strong Point.

Hon. Grant Herring, the youngest member of the State Senate, punched up the Senatorial animals in a lively manner yesterday. He raised a point of more than ordinary interest and made the Republicans squirm with the logic he brought forth to support it. The subject was the Gubernatorial appointments, and that is a delicate subject for Republican consideration.

Senator Herring's point was that in the appointment to office the Executive exercised double power as compared with the Senate. An appointment is in three parts. The Governor nominates, the Senate confirms or rejects, and the Governor finally commissions, the latter being as essential as the others to the consummation of the duty. Upon that theory he demanded that the Senate act on the Governor's recent appointments without regard to the Governor's action on those previously confirmed.

The strength of this position is proved by the temper in which it was received. Senator Gobin, who seems to be the leader, floundered about, and Robinson, Packer and others tried to bolster him up. But they made a pitiable exhibition of themselves and the Senatorial kid carried off the cake. —Philadelphia Herald.

BOYER'S TAX BILL.

OUTLINES OF THE BILL TO TAKE THE PLACE OF THE "GRANGER" BILL.

State Treasurer Henry K. Boyer, whose Tax bill has been substituted for the Taggart Tax bill by the Finance Committee of the State Senate, has briefly outlined the provisions of his bill.

He said there was not a new principle advanced nor an old one invaded by his bill, and if it should become a law it would not change in any particular the present machinery for the assessment and collection of taxes. The first change proposed by his bill is in the tax rate on personal property.

"The existing law," said the Treasurer, "provides that personal property shall pay a tax of 3 mills, one-third of which goes to the counties. My bill increased the rate to 4 mills and gives three fourths to the counties. That alone will give the counties about $1,200,000 over and above what they now receive from personal property. The next provision is the increase of the mill rate on capital stock from three to five mills. It is calculated that that will increase receipts from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000, all of which will go to the public schools. It is also proposed to return to the counties all the moneys collected for liquor licenses. This will distribute about $300,000 among the counties. In the aggregate this will be nearly $4,000,000 that will be divided among the counties of the State to relieve local taxation."

The Treasurer was asked about Senator Robbins' criticism of his bill, and he replied that he did not think Senator Robbins had read the bill closely. "I inserted words in the bill," said Mr. Boyer, "which I think covers the objections made by Senator Robbins. He finds fault with it because it does not tax capital stock which does not earn dividends. I think he will discover that this bill reaches such stock by providing that it shall be taxed on a net earning basis."

Pure Rye Whiskey.

One year ago we had 5000 gallons of Old Rye Whiskey in Bond, which was considered a large stock to carry and sufficient for the trade. The demand, however, for our whiskey became such, that we were compelled to increase the capacity of our distillery, in order to give the whiskey some age before placing it on the market.

We are now making over a barrel a day; having a daily capacity of over 50 gals. and carrying a stock of 11,000 gals. in Bond. We hope to give our patrons the benefit of the age and will sell no whiskey under six months, and from that up to three years. No second hand barrels are used at our Distillery; all our whiskey is bonded in new, clean, charred, barrels, and for purity and quality we defy competition.

We have never distilled a bushel of corn, and we do hereby guarantee ALL our whiskey to be absolutely Pure Rye and doubled on a copper lined still and to any person who will find any drugs or corn in our whiskey as it leaves our Distilllery or Salesroom, we will forfeit $500.00.

THE HOUSE NUMBERING ORDINANCE.

At a meeting of the town council held May 7th, the following action was taken, as appears by the minutes;

"Messrs. McHale and Weissinger appear and ask the privilege of numbering the houses and buildings of the town of Bloomsburg with no expense to the town, they to have sole right of supplying the numbers and placing index boards at corners of streets. Request granted."

At the same meeting an ordinance was passed regulating the numbering of houses in which it is provided that the secretary shall furnish any property owner with the appropriate number for his property, on application

This action was premature, for the Council has no power to give to any one the exclusive right to supply numbers. Owing to complaints that have been made to members of the council, President Harman has notified McHale and Weissinger to proceed no further with the numbering. If the houses are to be numbered let it be done at home. Any Bloomsburg man can measure twenty feet as well as anybody else, and our Bloomsburg hardware men can supply the numbers, and any mechanic can put them up. As the matter stands the ordinance is not likely to be enforced at present.

Mr. Knouse denies any connection with the arrest of Ellis Young.

BENTON, PA., May 18th 1891.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN:

Dear Sir: I would like to have permission to publish a few lines in your worthy columns. In order to correct an error that has been circulated in and throughout this neighborhood, I publish the following letter:

SHERIFF'S OFFICE, LUZERNE CO.

WILKES BARRE, PA. May 12th, 1891.

Mr. Knouse, Dear Sir: I think you have been misinformed as to your name being down as a witness; as I cannot find anything of it on record here. I think it is your brother instead of you.

Yours Respectfully,
R. P. ROBINSON

Now the above letter ought to be satisfactory proof to show that I was not implicated in any way, shape or form in the Ellis Young arrest. I have been censured for being implicated in the matter; but I defy any person or persons in either Luzerne or Columbia Counties to make affidavit to my being in any way, shape or form whatever implicated in the Young matter. There has been word circulated that I had been with Lutz to Wilkes Barre, in the matter of Ellis Young, and any one that says so is a branded falsifier; as I had never spoken to Lutz or any one else in regard to the arrest. If people would take the time to read our county papers they would be able to know who the prosecutors were. Now this statement with the above Sheriff's letter ought to be sufficient evidence to convince any rational being of my innocence of the matter, and if the above is'nt satisfactory, they can call for No. 2.

Respectfully, &c.,
ALEXANDER KNOUSE.

DEATH OF MRS. STROUP.

Mrs. Esther Stroup, wife of the late David Stroup, died at her residence in Bloomsburg last Saturday morning after a lingering illness from dropsy. She and her husband were among the early settlers of Bloomsburg. They were members of the Lutheran Church, when the present building was first built, nearly 40 years ago.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at ten o'clock, the body being taken to the Lutheran Church. Rev. E. A. Sharretts, who was the first pastor in the present church building, began the services, relating incidents of the building of the church and the interest manifested by the deceased. Rev. F. P. Manhart, a former pastor followed with remarks showing the liberality of the deceased in furthering the work of evangelizing the world. Rev. P. A. Heilman, the present pastor, concluded the services bearing tribute to the faith of the deceased Her desire seemed to be to accumulate money to leave behind for the use of the poor and needy.

Mr. Marshall, conductor of the work train, has moved his family from Sunbury to this town. They appear to be well pleased with this pretty village.

There is no finer place than Mifflinville in the county for some factory, R. R. facilities &c. We will offer inducements to some legitimate enterprise.

Our ancient village was visited last week by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Pifer of Watsontown, Mr. Wm. Pifer of Shickshinny, Mr. Geo. Creasy of Wapwallopen and Mrs. John Barnhart of Catawissa.

Mr. and Mrs. T. U. Sweppenhiser of Centre and Mr. and Mrs E. Sweppenhiser visited the latter's daughter, Mrs. I. L. Snyder at Rock Glen.

The "Mifflinville Silver Cornet Band" has just purchased a full set of new instruments for four hundred dollars. We think the band is doing well, and fully deserve the liberal donations of the citizens. We should all appreciate the music enough to help the boys along.

Rev. S. P. Boone will move in the C. Werkhiser house in a short time. All are well pleased with him.

POULTRY NOTES.

No. 17.

Try and keep young turks from getting wet till they begin to show the red, after that they can generally take care of themselves.

Turkeys can stand severe hardships in the way of weather etc., when old, but while young are very tender, and need good care.

Don't let your brood of young turks wander far from the house while young; better confine the mother for a few days.

Then in case of showers it is easier to keep them from getting wet.

Make friends with your turkeys, don't dog or drive them on to your neighbors farm, as some have been known to do.

If you can't raise turkeys, and be at peace with your neighbors, better far leave the turkey business alone.

Don't forget to give your young birds of any kind a feed occasionaly, that is mixed with coal oil, as it will keep of cholera.

If your Turkeys come home nights be sure and give them a good supper which will induce them to come home every night, then you know where they are and how they are doing.

Mr. Blaine.

SAID TO BE SERIOUSLY SICK—HIS NERVES AND CONSTITUTION OVERSTRAINED AND ILLNESS FOLLOWS.

The friends of Secretary Blaine in Washington are very much alarmed concerning his condition, and it is believed both by them and friends of the Damrosch family that the Secretary is a much sicker man than the statements of his physicians would indicate.

When he was first taken ill it was rumored that he was stricken with vertigo, but Walter Damrosch promptly supplied contradiction, stating that it was a simple attack of indigestion, asserting that Mr. Blaine was advanced in years, having been 61 last January, and that therefore a slight indiscretion, an ordinary cold or something of that sort would quickly disturb or upset him. Later Mr. Damrosch practically admitted that the attack was not so slight as he had at first thought or stated and that Mr. Blaine was confined to his bed with the chances of staying there an indefinite time although he "might be about any day."

A gentleman who is a friend of the Damrosch family and Secretary Blaine, said that the Secretary is a very ill man and that it might be a long time before he recovered his vigor. He has done a good deal of work, and his nerves and constitution have suffered in consequence. He added that it was by no means a certainty when Mr. Blaine would go back to Washington, for the reason that he was unable to get out of bed. Even if he recovers sufficiently to resume his duties he will have to be very careful. "It grieves me very much," said the gentleman, "but I do not think I exaggerate when I say it is very probable that Mr. Blaine will never recover his strength entirely."

The Steam Heat Company of Williamsport suspended operations for the summer before the recent cold snap, and the people of that city shivered and suffered. The Bloomsburg Steam Heat Company keeps up a fire until June 1st, and its patrons are always protected against sudden changes in the weather.

DANGEROUS BAR-RINGS.

Among the first of Dr. Koch's patients with consumption was a young girl infected from the ear-rings of a deceased friend. Barbers' itch, lupus, and specific disease are often derived from razors, brushes, towels, &c. Vigorous, healthy blood is the best safeguard against all parasites, and Cactus Blood Cure, the one only vegetable blood purifier known. No rival, no mineral, no failures.

ON THE ITALIAN COAST.

Pale evening paused on a purple peak
To greet the sun ere he sank to rest;
Her brows he kissed, and her pallid cheek,
And left a blush on her dusky breast.

Then viewless lassos she softly threw
Around the necks of all living things,
Bringing them home in the twilight blue,
Amid patter of feet and flutter of wings—

Into the blue and out of the gold;
Sea birds home to their airy nests,
Lowing herds to the humble fold,
And children home to their mothers' breasts.

Tonight I paused on a purple peak,
When daylight died on the darkling main,
And something moistened my weary cheek
As thoughts long dead came to life again.

But there were no lassos my birds to draw,
My birds, my herds and my children home.
The night alone and her stars I saw,
And shadowy Ætna's awful dome.

Grestless soul! Can nothing restore
The pride and promise of former years?
Or art thou a surge on yon iron shore
Which breaks and forever disappears?
—William E. S. Fales in New York World.

Admirals Rivals in Rhyme.

A London friend sends me quite a pretty story anent the daughter of Sir Edwin Arnold. She is her father's secretary and his companion in most of the journeys round the world. During her recent stay in Japan her majesty's China squadron ships and the American Pacific fleet were in the harbor of Yokohama at the same time. Sir Edwin and his daughter entertained the admirals of both fleets at luncheon, and in return were naturally invited on board the ships. The American fleet was first visited, and upon leaving the gallant American admiral presented Miss Arnold with a beautiful bouquet, tied with ribbons of the ship, as a token of the respect of himself and his officers.

This American courtesy came to the ears of the English commander, and not to be outdone by his American brother he presented Miss Arnold with a larger bouquet and doubled the number of ribbons. Then the American admiral sent Miss Arnold a few verses of his own composition. This was going a little further than the English officer was capable of, but he had some verses written to Miss Arnold and dispatched them to her three days afterward. The daughter then told her father, and she immediately found a third contestant. That same afternoon brought her another beautiful bouquet and attached was a card bearing the following lines:

TO MY DAUGHTER.

Oh, happy maid, whom two great flags conspire
To honor—blending rich melodious posies,
When admirals rhyme, the muse unstrings her lyre
To bind in pride their mayflowers and their roses.
EDWIN ARNOLD.

Mrs. Gladstone.

She is one of the most charming looking women you ever saw—a sweet, kind face framed in full, soft, lovely hair and topped by a cap of velvet and lace. A gown that falls in artistic folds and doesn't rustle, and a way of looking at you as if she were interested in everything you said—that's Mrs. Gladstone. She does not care for society as it is meant by the round of balls and receptions and the giving and going to them, but she is delighted when she is at the head of her own dinner table and has about her a circle of friends who know and love her and Mr. Gladstone. Unlike the wife of any other prime minister, she never went in for having a salon, for surrounding herself with rich and powerful friends who would simply care to be received at the house of a prime minister, and yet have no real interest in the cause which he so thoroughly and entirely championed.

Instead, she has given her time to caring for him, to seeing that he was under any and all circumstances as comfortable as possible, and that in this way his health was preserved for the nation for whom he did so much good. Her happiest moments are when she is with her husband at Hawarden, but on every important occasion she has always been by his side. Just remember that this means going over the country in railway trains, being for hours on open air platforms, and then you will understand why the people of England worship Mrs. Gladstone as a heroine.—Cor. Ladies' Home Journal.

A Noble Work.

Mrs. James S. Gibbons has turned her beneficence in the channel of charity, and her large contributions to the Women's Prison association have done much to make its standing solid and sure. Mrs. Gibbons was one of the first founders of the home, and it has been mainly through her untiring efforts that a law has been passed demanding that women prisoners should be searched and looked after by women. Mrs. Gibbons visits all the prisons and talks with the women. When they leave the prison she gives them a refuge in the home until they get started, and oftentimes she finds them situations.

"Mine is a particular calling, that of helping the female prisoners," she said. "Such a woman is the most unhappy of all human beings. Once a criminal always one, and the world has not a tear for her. Our prison association hunts all these women up and leads them to a higher and nobler purpose in life."—New York Recorder.

The great plagues formerly filled nations with terror; but they are now well nigh conquered, and are known mainly as matters of history. Smallpox was a frightful disease, even within the present century, but is now powerless to gain a foothold anywhere in Christendom.

There are two prominent occupations in which there seems to be no distinction of sex in regard to honor or compensation. On the stage and in the field of literature men and women meet as equals.

Lucca, the singer, will hereafter devote herself exclusively to teaching, and she will receive only eight pupils, and such as show that they have a good future before them.

No less than 17,000 young girls and women, homeless, friendless, helpless and foodless, sleep in the open-all-night shelters of Stepney Green, London, in a year.

If you are short and stout don't ask the poor artist to make a picture of you full length. He will, if you insist; but he knows he is doing a great wrong thereby. Nothing is so graceful and pleasing in a picture of a stout lady as a sitting half length, the figure so turned as to hide the too too stoutness. Again, if you are slim and angular, do not for an instant forget that a full length figure will make you appear more slim and angular. Then the pretty bust picture is your only hope and you should insist on having no other.

If a gentleman has a very long neck—no matter how nicely he looks in a high collar—his picture if taken in such a high affair would look grotesque. A short neck and high collar, a long neck and low turned down collar by all means. No loud stripes, no great checks, no striking figures should be worn in a photograph. One thing bear in mind when you visit the studio—bring along your home expression. Don't spend two days before you come to the studio practicing poses and different expressions before your mirror, and, lastly, give the photographer the benefit of exercising his artistic and professional ability.—Photographer in Ladies' Home Journal.

Mrs. Stuart's Good Work.

It is not a wonder that men should look with astonishment on a woman who undertakes to build an institution. Many a woman of advanced ideas would be dumfounded to find a member of her sex so far ahead of her age. Women are feeling their way slowly and secretly but successfully. The female benefactors of New York city are many, but unknown. Of wealthy families, they dislike notoriety, and so long as they see their pet project blossom into success and flourish they sink their own individuality into the abyss of humanity and rest content.

A new asylum for destitute children is to be built near Central park. Few people know that the land and every stick of timber that constitutes its frame was purchased by a woman. Yet it was. And that woman was Mrs. Robert Stuart. She is bordering on the silver age of sixty, yet she is full of geniality and sociability.

"My husband was a benevolent man, and when he died I made it my life's motto to carry out his intentions," said she. "Money is of no avail to me if I cannot make some poor people happy."—New York Recorder.

Poisoned by His Easy Chair.

A distinguished citizen passed away recently under circumstances which will arouse a feeling of sorrow in those who realize how life might have been preserved. Ex-Mayor Samuel C. Cobb was one of the sturdiest of Bostonians. But gradually he began to fail in health, with such slowness that the decline was not noticed until it had gone far, very far, but with a fatal sureness that no medical skill could at the last avert. It was all a mystery. The physicians doctored him for this and for that, surmising now one disease and another, until at the last moment, just a few weeks before his death, they discovered the real trouble.

Arsenical poisoning was at the root, and that poisoning had been steadily going on for years. His curtains, his wall paper, and, more particularly, his favorite easy chair, were made of material that contained the deadly arsenic, and the poor man had unknowingly been breathing in the poison while supposing he was resting and gaining strength. It was very sad.—Boston Cor. New York Commercial Advertiser.

Dates for Easter.

In 1883 Easter fell on March 25, and it will only once again in this century, namely, in 1894, fall on so early a date. In the three following centuries it will occur only eight times on the same date—namely, in 1951, 2035, 2046, 2057, 2103, 2114, 2125 and 2198. The earliest date on which Easter can fall is on March 22, and this only in case the moon is full on March 21, when this date happens to fall on Saturday. This combination of circumstances is extremely rare. It occurred in 1390, 1761 and 1817, and will happen again in 1990, 2076 and 2144, while during the three following centuries it is not once "on the books" at this early date. On the other hand, Easter never falls later than April 25; this was the case in 1666, 1734 and 1886, and will only happen once in the next century—namely in 1943.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Strategic Promoter.

A man told me the other day—he would not have his name mentioned for evident reason—that when he had a big scheme to push the first thing he did was to get into debt with the people he wanted to enlist in his enterprise. "Then, of course," said he, "by helping me out they help themselves." Specious logic, to be sure, but cleverly plausible on its outward face.—Boston Traveler.

Lenten Restriction.

Alice—I cannot give them to you until after Lent.

Fledgely—But I insist upon them now.

ALONE.

Since she went home—
The evening shadows linger longer here,
The winter days fill so much of the year,
And even summer winds are chill and drear,
Since she went home.

Since she went home—
The robin's note has touched a minor strain,
The old glad songs breathe but a sad refrain,
And laughter subs with hidden, bitter pain,
Since she went home.

Since she went home—
How still the empty rooms her presence blessed;
Untouched the pillow that her dear head pressed;
My lonely heart hath nowhere for its rest,
Since she went home.

Since she went home—
The long, long days have crept away like years,
The starlight has been dimmed with doubt and fears,
And the dark nights have rained in lonely tears,
Since she went home.

TRIBUTE TO TRAIN ROBBERS.

Bill Nye Sounds Praises of the Younger Brothers.

After the Rock Island train robbery the Youngers and Jameses scattered to avoid detection. Each took a peach basket full of gold watches, so that he would know what time it was, and started off in four different directions. Curiously enough, four of them came together, viz, Cole, Jim, and John Younger and Moore.

The four outlaws had halted in a thick grove of trees to rest their horses, swap watches, and pray, when late in the afternoon two deputy sheriffs and a constable who were looking for the train robbers suddenly came upon them. In an instant Cole Younger took in the situation, and revolvers were drawn and levelled on the officers, says the narrator, while with terrible threats and oaths, indicating that if they did not hold their hands as high as possible they would, almost, at once, look like the zodiac man in the front of the almanac, they were halted.

"Where are you going?" asked Coleman Younger in a rich Union Depot voice.

"We are hunting for the Youngers, who robbed the train on the Rock Island Road," said the deputy, who had once impanelled a jury, but aside from that had never mixed much with carnage.

"You were!" exclaimed Coleman Younger. "Well, d——n you, pray!"

He was almost morbid on the subject of prayer, Coleman Younger. He did much harm, I think, by suggesting it at the most inopportune times, and showed great intolerance that way.

"What do you mean?" asked the trembling wretch.

"I mean that you have just 10 minutes by our large and choice assortment of watches to get ready for the other world, and I don't want to send any man to the other world unprepared."

He was always that way. He did not want to see a deputy sheriff die in a crude state. Ten minutes soon passed, and then the men were blindfolded. They were not far from the steep bluffs of the Missouri, some of which were 300 feet high. The three men, with their eyes bandaged, were taken to a cliff and swung over it so that they caught by their hands. Below was a perpendicular wall.

"Hold on as long as you can," said the eccentric robber, "and when you fall that will be the end of you."

With that the helpless men were left, and above the tumultuous beating of their own hearts they heard the clatter of retreating hoofs. You can dimly imagine the horrors of such a situation. The cold, glittering stars looked down upon them, but they saw them not. With bandaged eyes and sinking hearts they clung to the verge of life until their nerveless fingers one after another relaxed and with a deep moan they fell to the bottom, a distance of nearly four feet!—[New York World.

The Highest Navigable Lake in the World.

Education is not all, says a New York Sun correspondent, that Chautauquans brag about when they speak of their summer school. They are sure to tell you that the lake, on the banks of which they gather, is the highest navigable and navigated body of water on the globe, and that it is swept by winds pure and fresh as those of the more northerly Adirondacks. Chautauqua Lake is in the extreme western corner of New York State. It is 1,300 feet above sea level. It is only eight miles from Lake Erie, but 726 feet above it. An interesting geographical point you are sure to hear is that Lake Chautauqua, although so near Lake Erie, sends its waters southward through Conewango Creek, and eventually reaches tide water in the Gulf of Mexico through the Mississippi River.

As a fact, Lake Chautauqua is not particularly pretty as a lake. Its slopes are flat and unromantic and the country round has been largely stripped of trees. Nevertheless, it is getting every season more of a resort. There are half a dozen growing summering places around it. The black bass and muskalonge fishing is remarkable, and the country is full of vineyards, and netted with fine roads for driving. Jamestown is the nearest city of size. It is on the outlet, three miles below the lake, and two lines of steamers have numerous boats plying daily between these places, stopping at intermediate resorts.

"Sometimes," writes a correspondent of a trade paper, "I have had to make holes in steel that was too hard to cut or file easily. Then I make a mixture that will cut a hole. I mix one ounce of sulphate of copper, quarter of an ounce of alum, half a teaspoonful of powdered salt, a gill of vinegar, and 20 drops of nitric acid. This will make a hole."

Toronto, Canada, proudly lays claim to being the most Puritanical city on the American continent. Even the street cars are not allowed to run on Sunday, or the Sabbath, as most of its citizens call it.

LITTLE PEOPLE.

"Well, my little pet, your good grandmother is dead." "Yes, sir; mother and father cried. Bob and Mary cried, too." "And what did you do?" "I tried to cry."

An Interesting Event.—Little Jimmie boy, who has just learned to write, started to keep a diary this year. His first entry was: "Got up at 7. Had my neck washed."

"Mamma, what made the preacher keep saying something about his ears?" asked Georgie. "I didn't hear him say anything about them," said mamma. "Well, he said, 'Oh, my hearers,' and I thought that meant his ears."

Little Emma (at the concert)—What is the man striking the lady for? Her Mamma—He is not striking her; he is only beating time for the musicians. Little Emma—Well, then, what makes the lady scream like that?—[Lynn Item.

A black man came to the door. It was opened by a child who had not before seen a person of color. He left the door open and ran to his mother. "Oh, mamma, there is a man at the door who has stove blacking all over his hands and face.

The Wise Little City Girl.—What are these funny little green things?" asked Flossie of her country cousin, pointing to a number of pea pods. "Those are peas," said Tommy. "You can't fool me," retorted Flossie. "Peas come in big red cans."

One day Owen was riding with his papa and mamma in the country, when he saw a cow in a field with a calf by her side, and a bell on her neck. "Mamma," said he, "why does that cow wear a bell?" Mamma did not answer, her attention being otherwise employed. Owen waited a little, and then said, "Is it to call the calf to dinner?"—[Youth's Companion.

A Small Boy's Ruse.—"Never throw stones at a carter when you are alone," said a small Canadian boy to the painter of his portrait whom he had taken into his confidence. "You must always have another boy with you when you throw stones at a carter." "Why?" "Because when the carter gets down to run after you, then the other boy can throw stones at the horse and start him up, and the carter will be obliged to leave you alone and go to take care of his horse. Always have another boy with you when you throw stones at a carter."—[Boston Transcript.

Professor Dana concludes that during the glacial period Long Island Sound, instead of being, as it now is, an arm of the ocean 20 miles wide, was for the greater part of its length a narrow channel serving as a common trunk for many Connecticut streams and a few from Long Island. In these circumstances the supply of fresh water for the Sound river would have been so great that salt water would have barely passed the entrance of the Sound.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Collegiate Education.

JAY GOULD BELIEVES IN PRACTICAL EDUCATION FIRST OF ALL.

Some of the over-zealous friends of the present standard of collegiate education are poking fun at Jay Gould because he not long ago said: "It seems to me that our colleges ought to adopt a new course. The time, I think, has come for them to pay less attention to the Greeks, Romans and Hebrews and the dead languages, and understand that this is a progressive country." But these gentlemen do not do Mr. Gould justice by giving all he said, for he added this: "A person is very much misplaced here who does not know how to help himself with his own hands. I think well of education and have always been partial to it, but it would be the easiest thing for our colleges to have mechanical and manual departments incorporated in their system of tuition. The sons of wealthy men would feel all the more secure if they had learned some trade while at college." That Mr. Gould was not talking without purpose is shown by what followed. He said: "I have seen that in the case of my own family. My son George is an expert telegrapher, and when he has traveled with me to the West we generally live in our car and switch it off at a siding. My son will then put on his boots, his steel clamps or prongs, and go up the telegraph pole, attach the wire to his instrument in the car, and then he sends for me all my telegraph messages. It causes him no disparagement, and makes him feel that he could get his living at all times." But we may take only the sentences first quoted from Mr, Gould about college professors, and we find nothing so amazing in them as these gentlemen pretend to have discovered. Indeed his remarks were brought out by a late declaration of the Emperor of Germany that he regarded the large and inactive educated class as something of a menace to modern times. Indeed what Mr. Gould said was only repeating what Richard Cobden (the Cobden spoken of by Disraeli as an honor to England, and by John Bright as "the manliest and gentlest spirit that ever quitted or tenanted a human form") gave utterance to in an address at the opening of the Manchester Athenæum many years ago. He was anxious, he said, during a tour of Greece to see the celebrated river Illyssus, and when at last he reached it he found that elusive stream narrow and shallow, a party of Greek washerwomen making the only practical use of it possible. "And yet," said he "the students of Oxford and Cambridge will spend much time in enthusiastic inquiries concerning the source and course of the Illyssus, and will be content to be almost entirely ignorant of the Mississippi that rolls through two thousand miles of country and bears on its breast the commerce of a mighty continent."

What girls can do.

There are three bright, active young ladies employed in the Record's composing rooms who excel many so-called "jours" for rapid work and clean proofs. They are the Misses Charity Hine, Sallie Kent and Louisa Tilden, and compose a trio of which any printing office could well afford to feel proud of. All three learned their trade in this office, and can beat the boys all hollow setting type.—Milton Record.

Visions of Wealth.

Squill (a struggling poet, anxiously)—Say, my dear fellow, couldn't you do a kind turn for me over there and mortgage some of my castles for me?—Life.
